

Our Service Commitment:

Jewish Care provides a range of critical services that together build and support a healthy, resilient and inclusive Jewish community. These services include housing and housing security, financial support, employment services, support for family and social cohesion, food, community education and health and well-being in the aged care, disability and social services sectors.

Jewish Care is committed to delivering safe, high-quality, and affirming support for every individual-regardless of age, ability, background, or identity in an environment grounded in dignity, equity, and continuous improvement. We are proud to be recognised for our quality standards through our ongoing accreditation in the sectors in which we operate.

Jewish Care's accreditation under the Aged Care Quality Standards, the NDIS Practice Standards and the Human Service standards are testament to the quality of our care and support. We uphold the rights, dignity, and wellbeing of every individual through inclusive practices, strong governance, and a culture of continuous improvement that empowers people to live with choice, independence, and respect. We acknowledge that many members of our community have experienced trauma, displacement, and antisemitism and we ensure our care and support is responsive to the impact of these experiences.

Jewish Care's accreditation under the Victorian Child Safe Standards demonstrates our commitment to the safety and wellbeing of children and young people across our organisation.

Jewish Care is accredited under the Rainbow Tick Standards, signifying our respect for the sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression of all people, including those we support and provide services to, our staff, our volunteers, and our visitors. We proudly celebrate and warmly welcome the rich diversity of our community as we strive to be inclusive for all.

Jewish Care acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as traditional owners and custodians of lands and waters across Australia.
