

Position Statement

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People

Jewish Care has one clear vision: Together, building and supporting a healthy, resilient, and inclusive Jewish community. Our values are universal and enduring in nature, but are also particular to the Jewish approach to creating a meaningful life, and a strong, cohesive community.

Our foundational values define who we are and underpin everything we do. The values, Respect (derech erez), Community (kehilla), Inclusion (hachlala) and Social Responsibility (achrayoot chevratit), are about people - they provide a moral compass for the way we respond to challenges and the decisions we make.

These values pervade every aspect Jewish Care, informing relationships between colleagues, staff and clients, and our organisation and the wider community.

The Board of Jewish Care seeks to demonstrate our commitment to these values by clearly stating Jewish Care's position on important issues that are contextual to the Jewish community's rich history or because it frames the way we will conduct ourselves and our engagement with members of the community.

Preface

Jewish Care recognises and acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as traditional owners and custodians of lands and waters across Australia. In doing so, it acknowledges and pays respect to all elders past and present connected to the lands that Jewish Care buildings and services currently occupy and utilise.

Jewish Care acknowledges that there is embedded prejudice and discrimination against members of many minority groups within Australian society. Similar to the Jewish experience, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders have experienced atrocities, persecution, marginalisation and dislocation.

Indigenous Australians are especially vulnerable. According to the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Social Survey, the unemployment rate for Indigenous people in 2014-15 was 20.6%ⁱ. Indigenous people are over-represented
